Fenebol's First Woman Contestant Elected

Latitude 44 Degrees 36 Minutes 48.070 Seconds

Longitude 78 Degrees 39 Minutes 25.769 Secs.

An excellent site for a TV aerial is to be found a fraction of a mile east of the village of Fenebol, on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Grouse. It is a high hill on the top of which stands a concrete pier on which a radio telescope is mounted. The plot of land reserved for the purpose by the Geographic Survey of Canada in 1931.

This radio telescope located pier could be passed by the unsuspecting traveller a hundred times without noticing it in size it stands upon a hillside some 400 feet above the level of the sea. It is a hill which it stands without being seen by the eye. Many people have seen it and it was this which prompted the idea of the contest. The first contest had been held in 1931.

Community Effort

position of a point may be determined more accurately by geodetic methods than it is possible by any other means.

"It may be of interest to you to know that the point is located on the position of the pier to which you refer in your letter is as follows: Latitude—44 degrees, 36 minutes, 48.070 seconds.

Longitude—78 degrees, 39 minutes, 25.769 seconds.

"The purpose of the Geographic Survey of Canada is to determine the position of a point, the necessity of which is well known. The navigators along our sea coasts and inland waters depend on good maps, or charts, as they are called, for their safety. Many very precise maps are sent out each year to obtain information which would be already known if good maps existed. Preliminary surveys for railways, roads, bridges, drainage systems, etc., are necessary in a section of which good maps have been made. The importance of good maps is so great and the use so varied that their necessity may be taken for granted. The Geographic Survey of Canada has the reputation for good and accurate maps.

"And as one would use a long chain or tape instead of a foot rule to measure the size of a farm, so making maps is a most important and costly work. The Geographic Survey of Canada has the reputation for good and accurate maps. The Geographic Survey of Canada has the reputation for good and accurate maps.

Municipal Govts. Meet Tomorrow Frost Tells Inaugural Audience

"The man who believes that municipal governments are one step less than provincial and that provincial are one step less than federal is a matter of fact. In fact, municipal governments are the most important of the three levels of government," Mayor Frost told the large number of Lindsay citizens who attended the inaugural meeting of the 1954 Council in the Town Hall.

He said that municipal was the first form of government having its beginnings with the village in ancient Athens and Rome.

"If we look at things, I think you will find that municipalities are the most important of the three levels of government," Mayor Frost said, "because they are the only ones that are closest to the people. They are the only ones that are closest to the people. They are the only ones that are closest to the people."

Price Index Drops 4-Tenths in November

Lower food prices are partly responsible for a four-tenths drop in the consumer price index during November.

The drop brought the index back below the level of last year.

The Bureau of Statistics says the price was lower on such common items as eggs, beef, pork, lamb, poultry, butter, and milk.

Prices declined on unbalanced advances in the price of most fresh vegetables, for lamb, beef, butter, cheese, shortening and coffee.

Oil is the only other group which showed unchanged prices. Prices advanced through various items of meat, women's and children's apparel and footwear.

Fuel prices, and the cost of some services and supplies, went up in November, but they were balanced out by decreases in the price of electricity.

The next index increases, but indexes of other commodities and services are not expected to rise.

It would be unfair to pick a star on either team, as every player worked hard in the clean, fast contest. Coach Kemp deserves special mention for a steady back-up player, while Packer, Burton, Truss, Graham and O'Brien did the whole Lindsay team, worked overtime and did better short handed.

A History of S.S. 13, Fenelon

By Blanche T. Watson (Pupils, S. S. 13, Fenelon)

In 1888, about 37 years ago, when the farmers of Fenelon, who had their children here for so long to school. They had no school here and some of the children had to over four miles to walk to school.

Before the school was built, they held classes in Mr. J. H. Thurston's home, where 24 pupils were taught around one long table, seated on chairs and benches, often sitting on either under the table. Mr. J. H. Thurston and his brothers and sisters were among the pupils and sometimes their mother, Mrs. J. H. Thurston, would bring them to school.

The school building cost about $750.00. The work was done by the men of the section. It is red brick and stands today.

"They held a night school to make money to pay the bill. They had the first teachers in the school and the boys helped on the roof and did a short around the bell so it wouldn't ring. Some of the boys who went to the school then were old enough to shave and some of the girls were as old as the teachers."

"The school was heated with a box stove and the boys would put bottles of water on the stove to heat the water. They had the rocks hot the ceiling. In the snow, sheep growed in the yard and one day the boys put one in the school to welcome the teacher when she came back from lunch."

The school was also used for church and Sunday School but it closed now, and some of us, who would have been gone there are attending this and other schools now."

Infant's Coughs and Colds are the most common ailments of the young child. They are caused by the cold virus which enters the body through the nose and mouth. The child's body is not yet strong enough to fight off the virus and it is therefore necessary to help nature to fight them off.

Encouraging Prospect: The Seesaw Down Fencing and Claim Tax Surplus Could Provide Cut

(British United Press)
Treasury observers in Ottawa hint that the 1954 budget could contain considerable reductions.
Rank-and-file Liberal M.P.s are known to be strongly in the saddle on a substantial tax cut.
There are several reasons for the optimism.

First, it's the first year of a new Liberal term of office and it could be made profitable by a popular measure of tax relief.
Some Liberals also believe that a cut in the budget would encourage dual and industry sales which are the most effective means of counteracting the slow-down tendencies now becoming apparent in the national economy.
The Finance Minister would have a good time to implement tax cuts in the future if he chooses to use it this way. There is a 30-million-dollar surplus in the national treasury and there is a surplus of some 60-million dollars in capital aid to defense industry.

Cheesemakers Narrowly Miss Sales Monopoly

Toronto, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The Ontario Cheese Producers Association has narrowly missed getting a monopoly on all cheese sold in Ontario.
A resolution presented to the Association's 21st annual convention in Toronto was delayed to next year.

At present cheese dealers are licensed through six different channels.
The proposed resolution was to study the possibility of obtaining these exchanges and having all Ontario cheese sold through the Association's marketing office.
Water McIntosh of Burnham, a dairy cheese producing area, was strongly opposed to the resolution. He said the present system allowed for a selective market.
Another objection to the closing of the exchanges because he felt the buyers would be able to offer what they wanted at competitive prices.

Expropriation Protested

Toronto, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The Ontario Road Producers Association has protested against the expropriation of farm lands for highways or as part of government conservation programs.
The Association claims the expropriation unfairly neglects and assesses the farmer for the loss of his property.
It says if the government wants to acquire land development it should do so by negotiation with the owners and the particular municipality involved.

Cheated At Bingo, Fined $1,000

Tighter Farm Marketing Control Approved By Ontario Federation

Toronto, Jan. 8 (UPI)—Ontario farmers have moved to keep a firm grip on their business from field to market.
The Ontario Federation of Agriculture, meeting in Toronto, has approved 40 resolutions, and most of them deal with a tighter control by farmers over marketing of their products.

It's expected that another resolution will be added to the list today, making that effort be made to introduce a marketing scheme for poultry.

The Federation passed one resolution yesterday asking that efforts be continued to secure stronger and unambiguous marketing legislation, and that steps also be taken to change the federal marketing acts to make them complementary to provincial acts.

The group felt that improvements could be made in marketing by setting up open livestock markets for sale in several locations other than Toronto.

The Federation passed another resolution which first asked for a ban on imports of slaughter chickens but was later reworded to a request that cheese producers be given some degree of control over all cheese imports.

CANCER RESEARCH . . . NEGLECTED BY CANADA?

A recent issue of Hansard reveals what some of us may be inclined to regard as a laxness on the part of the federal authorities in pursuing research into the relationship between smoking and lung cancer. It was surprising to note in the Hansard release that despite the widespread publicity this matter has been given by the Federal Department of Health and Welfare has not earmarked any funds specifically for research into this matter.

The following extract from Hansard on the subject is enlightening:

Research into Lung Cancer
Smoking and Lung Cancer
Mr. Speaker: I should like to ask a question of the Minister of National Health and Welfare in view of the reports and statistics made in the United States and in England on the incidence between smoking and lung cancer, can the minister say whether the research being carried on in his department which he referred to in his speech when he reported the points where any reports or statement can be made? Mr. Macdonald: Minister of National Health and Welfare: I am glad to answer the question. In the Department of National Health and Welfare, but various research bodies in Canada have done considerable work in this line. I have been very busy with funds out to the national health program to stimulate research into lung cancer.

Others Say

ON SPEAKING FRENCH

Governor-General Massey suggests that Canadians whose mother tongue is English should learn to speak French; and here is a proposal to which nobody can put in any counter-claim, denier or objection. Certainly the English-speakers of this country ought to equip themselves, if the opportunity is provided, for conversation with the French-speakers who are nearly one-third of the nation.

The important word in Mr. Massey's statement, the operative word as the British say, is "speak". Every one or nearly every one who goes to high school in English-speaking Canada, "takes" French; but the number of multilinguals who can do that language with any fluency at the time of their graduation is extremely small.

There is a wide gulf between that and knowing as well as high school French to a working knowledge of the interesting and elegant language. It is all very well to be able to conjugate "aimer", to know that the definite article varies by gender in French, to be familiar with what are known as the irregular verbs and to have a French vocabulary acquired from looking at printed words in a book. This mental furniture is of no use at all, as countless travellers know whether they are far from Paris or only to Quebec City, when it comes to engaging a French-speaking carman in conversation.

Learning the grammar and mechanics of any language is a useful mental exercise. But there is surely, or ought to be, another object in studying French when the student is a Canadian. That aim, one must suppose, is to communicate with fellow citizens.

Why does it happen that so few English-speaking Canadians learn French so that they can speak it with ease? Is it because French is a "dead" language in our schools by people who are not themselves articulate in the language and regard it as simply a kind of "hard" to it because of prejudice? The right answer is hard to come by, but it ought to be found. Mr. Massey has raised an issue that the leaders of education ought to look into.

Sparks of Wisdom

By Cedric Lewis
Vision is the art of seeing the life.
—Buddha.
If any of you do not see directly or indirectly express the life of man, it is a bad dream. It is a bad dream, it is a bad dream, it is a bad dream. It is a bad dream, it is a bad dream, it is a bad dream.

There are 451 but three steps from earth to heaven; or, if you will, from earth to hell—act, habit, character.—Buddha.

James W. Bradburn

Blackstock (PNB) — One of our best-known Thursday life long and most highly-respected citizens, in the person of James W. Bradburn, died at his home in the village on New Year's Day, in his 84th year.

He was the last surviving member of a family of nine children born to George Bradburn and Abigail Yab Camp Bradburn, who lived in the family home on Main Street and family residence at the present time. In 1898 he married Margaret Wilson, widow, and moved to the farm where they lived, Joseph, now live. They remained there until 1928 when they moved to Blackstock village. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last fall, Dec. 21st, 1952.

He attended Blackstock Methodist Church and was a member of the United Church and throughout his life. It was a rare thing for him to be absent.

The funeral service was held from the United Church on Monday, January 4, 1964, with Rev. C. W. Wilson officiating. Mr. Wilson spoke most eloquently words to the bereaved from the text "I have fought a good fight — I have finished my course — I have kept the faith. Hereafter there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, while the righteous will have their life." He said that "I have fought a good fight — I have finished my course — I have kept the faith. Hereafter there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, while the righteous will have their life."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bradburn, two daughters, Arvella (Mrs. Lewis Henry), Blackstock, and Mrs. Frank Carter, Toronto; two sons, Lorne of Toronto and Joseph of Blackstock; also 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Survived also by Mrs. Leith Byers, Robert Byers, Wm. Purdy, Fred Bradburn, Melville Leaning, Edwin Thompson, of Montreal; nephews were Norman Gordon, Ray Bradburn, Howard Purdy and other relatives and friends. Interment was in Union cemetery, Oshawa.
